

Why Maintain? You Might Already Be In Trouble.

MAINTENANCE TIP • JUNE 2013

“Just because you don’t have a roof leak, doesn’t mean you don’t have a problem”

If you were to look in a thesaurus for words akin to “Maintenance” you would find:

- Preservation
 - Protection
 - Continuation
 - Safeguarding
 - Continuance
 - (antonym – Destruction)

- Repairs
 - Upkeep
 - Looking after
 - Care
 - Conservation
 - (antonym – Neglect)

The object of maintenance is to preserve the roof and make needed repairs before damage becomes a problem. When a roof is neglected, little problems can destroy it.

This why the roofing industry encourages building owners to have their roofs inspected by a professional twice a year – fall and spring and by building maintenance personnel immediately after a major weather event, to look for signs that the roof may need immediate repair.
